

Safety First

with Officer Ted Wang

Safety is an important topic and should be discussed with children at all times on various circumstances.

Officer Ted Wang visited with the preschool classrooms and gave them some information on strangers, 911, and a tour inside a cop car. Officer Ted explained to the children when you see a stranger you should scream as loud as you can to be heard and the proper procedures to follow in case of an emergency. Children also had an opportunity to climb in the back seat and observe the gadgets inside the police car.

One of parents' greatest responsibilities is to pass on everything they learned to their children. Educating your children is an ongoing process that will help keep them safe even when they are eventually on their own.
